WE CARE ABOUT YOUR HOME

The cornerstone of American family life is undeniably the home. It is a special place where our individual values take shape, and form the collective heartbeat of the nation. A special place where the pulse of life is influenced by the nature of our environment.

It is in this spirit that we embrace ETHAN ALLEN INTERIORS. Designed as a quarterly magazine, it draws upon fifty years of experience in caring for your home to give you creative decorating ideas.

Each item selected for this issue celebrates a rich period of American culture by maintaining its design integrity, whether traditional, transitional or country. In addition, most of the products featured in the following pages are offered to you at special savings and values during Ethan Allen's 1988 Spring Event Sale. This sale is our special way of inviting you to come to Ethan Allen.

ETHAN ALLEN INTERIORS is just a sampling of the products and services you can expect to find at Ethan Allen. Indeed, our gallery network offers you a practical, professional interior decorating service that is complimentary. Our designers will guide you through a world of options that goes far beyond furniture: all the way to integrating and correlating fabrics, carpeting, wallpaper, draperies and bedspreads, lighting, and accessories. Their expertise, combined with your own personal taste, can make every decorating decision an investment that you will enjoy for a lifetime.

The American family is the foundation of our country's strength, and Ethan Allen is proud to be an integral part of making your house . . . a beautiful home.

A GOOD HOME LASTS A LIFETIME

Born of comfort, the master suite with a sumptuous Country French bedroom and sitting room with conservatory follows suit to the living room with its unusual color scheme, swags of correlated fabrics and draperies, all marrying a voluptuous paisley fabric and the shimmer of madras. It is the revival of the grand suite with all the warmth and appeal of today. EA

The Country French canopy bed is an invitation to eat bonbons and read French novels, with generous, softening swags of fabric in coordinating floral, paisley and madras patterns. The attached conservatory and sitting room is a relaxing place to sink back, feet up, to relax or ponder the decisions of the day.

A handcarved dresser and armoire from the Country French collection are the perfect place for clothing and even a television and stereo equipment.

ENTERTAINING IN STYLE

A FORMAL EDITION

If entertaining is your style, then this stunning Georgian Court dining room will be your choice. A crowned glass pediment breakfront handsomely displays your precious china and the rich cherry wood dining table with its gleaming finish is perfect for your crystal glassware and sterling silver.

And after dinner, lead your guests into this magnificent living room where a grandfather clock stands staunchly in a corner and a Jacobean print dances in the swags and cascades of the draperies that so elegantly frame the jewel-like Japanese silk screen and is so very formal repeated on the Chippendale camelback sofas. And you need not keep your door closed to a bedroom that becomes a showpiece. As pretty as the picture over the mantle and as soft and comfortable as the Georgian Court queen-size bed, a peach and white bedroom echoes 18th century England and whispers Victorian. There's a William and Mary-type wing chair perfect for re-reading Jane Eyre. And a graceful cherry wood lift lid mirror vanity for pampering. EA

To take another look, there is an eight drawer Georgian Court cherry wood double dresser; and a lovely tilt dressing mirror with 18th century details like posts, a single drawer, and Ogee legs, perfect for his/her perfumes.

VARIATIONS ON A THEME

Designed with a new freedom, these rooms adhere to traditional values but reach out to our lives today. And today, it is traditional to mix periods and styles of furniture, while staying within an overall theme. Whether it's a formal setting or casual elegance, try to incorporate your lifestyle with the objects you love. EA

At right, a Palladian window, French atrium doors, a wood-beamed cathedral ceiling and skylite, stage a mix of Canova pieces, such as the video and audio cabinets seen here. The Parsons benches are placed to be easily moved to accommodate conversations.

At left, a room takes its cue from a love of horses and a favorite saddle. From the American blanket design on the Lawson sofa; to the rawhide colors of clay pots and a yew wood chest; to the rough rope texture of the Berber rug and the cool colors of country wing chairs that sing, "... where the skies are not cloudy all day." A cherry wood etagere with Chinese Chippendale fret work, a graceful oval glass table from the Collector's Classics, and a Georgian Court glass display cabinet to show off a valuable collection, complete the casual elegance of this private edition of tradition.

TRUE SAVOIR-FAIRE

WITH DECORATIVE OBJECTS

French paisleys drape artfully around a canopy bed . . . A softly filled and quilted madras throw coverlet glimmers with shades of an amethyst . . . Throw pillows and neck rolls pick up the palette of French blues, blue-violets, and grape. The decorative touches set the stage for creating that fully accessorized French look (near right).

An entrance hall acquires an English accent with unmatched brass candlesticks, placed creatively on beautifully bound classics — or just favorite books. Add grandness with an old master art print framed in gold and royal red, and with fresh flowers set off by a stunning malachite planter.

An end table with a polished bronze finish bouillotte lamp and mushroom pleated shade takes on a romantic air by placing a beautiful porcelain figure gracefully next to an oyster shell candy dish (far right).

Use your imagination. A windowsill, mantel, or tabletop are perfect vehicles to express yourself. You can create stunning still lifes with an arrangement of objects that have been carefully chosen to accent room colors, design lines, or for size interest.

If you favor an Oriental accent, a collection of hand-painted vases and jars could be outstanding. Or take a favorite wood-carved waterfowl collection and arrange them for an American Sportsman accent. A rock collection could pick up colors and textures of a room. Or a simple, handmade pottery collection would work wonderfully for an Early American accent.

See what you can do. Start by looking around for interesting objects. Experiment with different settings and arrangements. You'll probably surprise yourself with decorative accents that add savoir-faire to your home decor. EA

Here our designers have arranged potted plants, keyed with the rose trellis of a conservatory, to create a captivating free arrangement of different sizes and shapes. An almost life-size terra-cotta swan adds movement to the stationary Japanese temple jar. Two different sized polished, solid brass obelisks catch the sunlight.

MIXING MOODS

INGREDIENTS FOR GREAT DINING

A dining room is where family and friends gather and create lifelong memories. It's where holiday feasts are enjoyed. It's the table where birthday candles are lit, where current events are discussed, and dreams are shared.

A dining room is a reflection of your lifestyle. Casual, made for those who like to have their dining area part of life's everyday activities. Or elegant, for dinner parties and Sunday reunions.

Whatever style you choose, details are what makes memories so precious. Like the nutmeg-finish hutch that shows off grandma's favorite plates. Or, the brass chandelier that mom loves so much. EA

Knotted English swags, classic Palladian windows, and the richness of this Old World Treasures rectangular dining table and ladderback chairs, opposite page, create royal elegance. And the leaded-glass buffet and china adds practicality to beauty.

We're reminded of our historical past in this Circa 1776 dining room, left. It's made of solid maple and takes its inspiration from 18th century masterpieces of design. This casual but elegant style allows either a traditional or transitional look. Here, floral patterns, greens, and garden produce emphasize the collection's traditional roots.

CHAIRS WITH NAMES

HIS, HERS, AND MINE

The chair with a name on it is usually the most comfortable chair in the house. It's the chair everybody loves. And if it's Daddy's chair, nobody dares to sit in it when he is home. Because Daddy wants to take off his jacket and tie, put his feet up, and relax. If it's Mommy's chair, it's the one she sits in after she's taken the kids to music lessons, picked them up from swim team, cooked their dinner, and put them to bed.

And, the ones shown on this page are the Restocrats™, a special group of recliners in over a dozen different designs with the same beautiful lines as all Ethan Allen chairs.

Take a look at them. They are all recliners, but you would never know it! The one featured above is a Queen Anne — notice the lovely cabriole wood legs and rolled-out arms. Far left, top, is a "Close-to-the-Wall", and far bottom, is the Chippendale. The one with exposed wood arms, top right, is also a rocker. And, yet another exposed wood version is seen in the lower right. They are all available in your choice of fabrics, and some in leather, too. Pick one and put your name on it! EA

PRIVATE VIEWS

TIE IT TOGETHER

You can blend a room's medley of colors into a lovely cascade or unite architecture with style and create a treatment that flows easily over the silhouette of a window, yet remains as elegant and formal as the room.

However you choose to treat your windows, remember to treat them as elements that complete the look of any room, not just a window covering. EA

An exquisite Palladian window turns into a palace view when enhanced with a knotted swag and coupled with formal furnishings.

English swags and jabots enhance the formal mood and frame the handpainted Oriental screen. The English passion for the Orient was evident throughout 18th Century homes.

A free-form swag dressed in ivory on ivory mingles easily with the traditional mood of the room.

FOR QUICK DELIVERY

When shopping in an Ethan Allen gallery, you are likely to find a woodframe sofa in a petite floral print you've always wanted. Or a velvet-like, plush beige swivel rocker for your living room. And you think to yourself, Perfect! When can I have it?

Through Ethan Allen's new In-Stock Upholstery Program, you need not wait for special upholstery orders. The most popular sofa and chair frames and fabrics have been selected to be part of this unique program which accelerates the availability of these items so they can quickly take their special place in your home.

And selection is extensive. From casual country plaids to a soft yellow floral print sofa, choices are plentiful. Because we know when you fall in love, it's hard to wait!

1. Quality, craftsmanship and fine detailing are shown here in the roll arm of this pillow-back style sofa, at right. Our woodframe sofa is dressed in Newtown, a favorite fabric, below.*

CASUAL TAKES ON ELEGANCE

COUNTRY SOPHISTICATION

Our American heritage takes us back to the country. To the lush forests, fertile farmland, and all the crafts and traditions our ancestors brought us. Everything has its roots in the country.

And in today's age of uncertainties, we Americans seem to cling to our heritage as a reminder of simpler days. As such, we have thoroughly embraced the country style of decorating . . . in a more sophisticated, lighter way, in an attitude of today.

This approach takes our traditional furnishings, wicker baskets, country animals, and dried flowers and transposes them into the present. This can be achieved through color, which often bridges the gap between traditional and transitional. The use of a color scheme has the power to take a room from drab to vibrant, stuffy to airy, and from yesterday to today.

Although a refined country palette can include a passion for pastels and a craving for neutrals, favorite chintz brings elegance to the overall feeling of a room.

Along with color, accessories and personal objects can make country more sophisticated. A touch of warm brass, a traditional hurricane lamp in untraditional pink, candles in white, a garden seat in peach next to a wing chair in plaid, accen-

Opened shutters and neutral walls shed new light on this Antiqued Pine living room. And a wing sleeper sofa in cream, muted green, and slate blue softens the rugged look and mingles nicely with favorite country collectibles, ducks and geese.

This updated look can be achieved with all varieties of country furnishings, as long as they carry authenticity. Whether you prefer the rugged look of Antiqued Pine whose roots lie in colonial New England, or Circa 1776 crafted in maple and inspired from original pieces by 18th century rural cabinet-makers. Or perhaps your taste is for Country Craftsman, a tribute to the Shakers, who greatly influenced American furniture design with their taste for simple, pure lines. Even Heirloom, an easy to love collection that captures the essence of Colonial times, can be taken from strictly traditional to transitional.

Whatever casual furnishings you prefer, an air of elegance is simple to achieve. It's country sophistication! EA

The Heirloom Collection living room furniture, above, is reminiscent of Colonial days, but the powder blue and lavender palette, geometric print swags and cascades, and white candles speak today's elegant language. Left, this pediment bed and matching dresser and nightstand also from the Heirloom Collection is a sleeping beauty. Made of warm, sunny maple, and filled with storybook charm, it creates a private place for dreaming. And a white decorated with nutmeg writing desk and chair create a private corner to reminisce and write past due letters to family and friends.

TAME THE WILD

WITH CUSTOM ROOM PLAN

Who would have thought that this bedroom, with its sophisticated bamboo accessories and tropical mosquito netting started out several years ago accented in pink and white eyelet and sported a full complement of teddy bears and dolls?

Kids grow up and their rooms need to change with them. The secret? By working with storage pieces from Ethan Allen's custom room plans, the teddies made way for a computer and the dolls were stored in favor of books and plants.

Custom room plans can civilize even the oddest room formations, hide what shouldn't be seen and show off what should. By using a variety of upper and lower cabinet units in a custom conformation, very personal needs can be met in almost any style category.

This den (upper left) belonging to a wildlife enthusiast is a perfect example. A prized collection of decoys and other duck art is beautifully displayed, while hunting journals and wildlife magazines are stored behind solid pine doors sporting authentic wrought iron hinges.

The family/media room (center left) has stereo for music lovers, television for couch potatoes and reading and reference materials for the studious. Within each custom group system are components that are wired for electricity, making media centers a cinch.

A previously unused corner (lower left) is now a home office, with found storage provided by special corner pieces that make the most of wasted space. Louvered shutters and porcelain knobs allow this high tech work space to blend with the Early American decor in the rest of the home. EA

A complimentary interior design service is available in every Ethan Allen Gallery. These trained professionals work hand in hand with you to make your decorating decisions an investment for years to come.
